

CRITTENDEN 2021 CRI DE COEUR CHARDONNAY

THE REAL REVIEW

There's a lot going on—apple, nectarine, white button mushroom, ginger and brioche just to name a few. Nothing juts out, the aromas are melded together, there's a subtle oxidative element to the wine. On the palate, the array of flavours continues. The palate is cushioned and composed. Would love to see a touch more energy carrying the wine through to the finish, but it offers some lovely savoury complexity. Gabrielle Poy
